

Live Music & Events at Saluda Outfitters and Green River Eddy's Tap Room & Grill

Friday, Nov. 3, 7-10 p.m. | Double Naught Spies is a five-piece band based out of Tryon but with members from around WNC. Headed by Jim Tatum, lead/rhythm/slide guitar/vocals; Ed Esposito, lead/rhythm guitar/vocals; Mike Montgomery, bass; Jeff Mooneyan, keys/vocals; David Franklin, drums. The group plays deep cut B side classic rock & blues with harmonies.

Saturday, Nov. 4, 7-10 p.m. | The Basement Bunch is a Tryon based group that regularly performs in the area. Band mates include Jim Peterman, keyboard/vocals, John Holvelsrud, guitar, Mike Carruth, drums/vocals, Vinny Corda, flute/sax/guitar/vocals and Elaina Prevett, bass/mandolin.

Friday, Nov. 10, 7-10 p.m. | The Right Hooks is a Hendersonville-based, five-member band. They describe their music as a “gumbo” of rock, blues and soul with favorite covers and originals. The band includes Audrey Lawrence, lead vocals/keys, Kevin Lawrence, vocals/lead guitar, Kevin Lawrence, Jr., drums, Chad Hensley, lead guitar/vocals and Dan Taylor on bass.

Saturday, Nov. 11, 7-10 p.m. | Celebrate Veteran's Day with The Reedy River String Band. This band plays foot-stompin' music in three-part harmony. Hailing from Greenville, the band brings a fresh take on Appalachian roots music infused with elements of rock'n'roll and jam band music. Band members include Mark Dye, upright bass/vocals; Sterling Waite, fiddle/mandolin/harmonica/vocals; and Rush Morgan, guitar/vocals.

Friday, Nov. 17, 7-10 p.m. | Charlie Alexander and Company is best characterized as a country music group; however, country doesn't say it all. While the band plays a lot of originals, you can expect covers from the likes of Tyler Childers, Sturgill Simpson and Tom Petty to name a few. Growing up in the foothills of Appalachia, lead singer/songwriter Charlie Alexander soaked in all the music and culture of the area, slowly cultivating his original sound.

Saturday, Nov. 18, 7-10 p.m. | Road House Rodeo is a band based out of the Lake Bowen/Inman area of SC. The band plays a variety of country, rock and blues. Members are Mike Gibson, lead guitar/vocals; Mike Lister, bass/vocals; and Harvey Swanson, drums/vocals.

Friday, Nov. 24, 7-10 p.m. | Crystal Creek is primarily a country and southern rock cover band that plays a little something for everyone including country/classic country/classic rock/southern rock and bluegrass. Band members are Ed Bowen, lead guitar of Williamston, SC; Candace Gronek, rhythm/vocals of Greenville, SC; Jerry Hipp, drummer of Inman, SC; and Robert Bowen, bass/vocals of Inman.

Saturday, Nov. 25, 7-10 p.m. | The Pace Brothers. Holden and Jadon 'Big Jay' Pace are Saluda natives and singer/songwriters who will bring their form of original music to the Sound Garden Stage for the first time together. The brothers perform as soloists as well as each has a band. Big Jay plays guitar and also serves as drummer/vocals for the popular Dirty South Band, while Holden fronts the Holden Pace Band. He plays guitar, piano and serves as lead singer. We are super excited to have these young men perform at our live music venue.
